The Easter Window

In the Sanctuary at Central Presbyterian Church

The Easter window portrays the resurrection story from Matthew 28:1-7

At the center of our Christian faith is the Resurrection. On Easter Sunday we sing and we proclaim that “Jesus Christ is risen today.” When a loved one dies, no matter what the age, we may be filled with sorrow, even anguish. Followers of Christ ultimately claim hope in the resurrection of the dead.

Do These Things First

If you haven't already done so, you will need to choose which funeral home and funeral director to use. Funeral directors are a good help in moving through the maze of things that need to be done at the time of death.

Always talk to the pastor before deciding on the date and time for the service. The pastor will help you coordinate dates and times with the church calendar and musicians. Meet with the pastor at your home or at the church.

Contact appropriate family members and friends. Ask someone to be with you and help you (maybe answering the phone, running errands, etc.).

Questions Frequently Asked When Planning a Service

When to have the service

Traditionally, memorial services were held 3-5 days after a person had died. However, it is becoming increasingly convenient for family and friends to hold memorial services on Saturdays. Central Church is not regularly open on Saturday, and staff is not regularly available. If you desire a Saturday service, it is recommended that you select 2-3 possible Saturdays so that there is a better chance that a Saturday can be scheduled that will work for the facility and the staff.

Where to have the service

Services are held in the chapel (seats up to 80), and in the sanctuary (seats 500). Sometimes the service is held at a funeral home. At other times it is appropriate to have a gathering at graveside only.

Who ushers?

Deacons will be ushers.

Parking

Please remind your guests to adhere to city parking restrictions and fees. Information is on street meters and also on overhead signs and pay stations in the municipal parking lots.

Guests are welcome to use Central's lots, if spaces are available.

Planning a Reception for Current Active Members Following a Service at Central Presbyterian Church

When requested by current active members, the Church can provide coffee and tea for receptions that are held at Central after a Service. It is the responsibility of family and friends to provide other non-alcoholic beverages, the food, and all disposable products such as plates, toothpicks, napkins, utensils, cold and hot beverage cups.

Some people choose to hire a caterer, and occasionally, people choose to hire a person to help serve and clean up afterward. The church office shall be notified about the arrangements the family has made, and be given contact information of the responsible persons. The family shall check with the church office prior to finalizing details with outside vendors.

Receptions are held in the Fellowship Room which provides standing room for 60-80 people. If more space is needed we will also use a portion of the adjoining auditorium.

Often, as part of celebrating the life of the person who is no longer with us, families and friends choose to place pictures and other memorable items in the Fellowship Room for everyone to see. We can provide tables or easels to display some of these items when requested in advance.

Sometimes, family and friends provide a floral arrangement for the reception. However, often an appropriate choice is to move flowers from the service into the Fellowship Room, and if this is to be done, the family shall designate somebody other than church staff or deacons to move them at the end of the service.

How are the music, the scripture, and readings chosen?

Ideally, the person who died will have left some suggestions for the service. The pastor, in consultation with designated family and friends, will choose the components of the service. (See the suggestions in this booklet.) A bulletin for mourners to follow the order of the service may be printed by the Central office staff or someone else chosen by the family. A song leader is highly recommended when congregational hymns are chosen.

Are flowers required?

It is not necessary to have flowers. However, if flowers are desired, one arrangement is sufficient for the chapel and one or two arrangements for the sanctuary. Floral arrangements used in the worship space are often taken to a reception.

May we have a reception at church?

Current active members of the church may choose to hold a reception at the church after the service.

(See information in this booklet.)

What is the Committal Service? When does it occur?

A Committal Service is brief and is held at the site where the remains will be interred: a cemetery; a columbarium; or a place like Central Presbyterian Church's Memory Garden. The family may choose to hold the Committal Service either immediately before or immediately after the Memorial Service that celebrates the life of your loved one.

What are the fees?

The fees are as follows:

Deacon's Fund $250 (suggested donation)

(Check payable to Central Presbyterian Church—Deacon's Fund)

The following checks should be payable to the individual:

Organist	$350
Instrumentalists	$250
Soloist	$200

The Memory Garden

...a sacred resting place...a place for quiet meditation...

The Memory Garden is a sacred resting place for use by members, former members, and their immediate families. When desired, their ashes may find a permanent resting place within the shelter of this garden. The ashes are scattered and mixed in with the earth.

The names of those whose ashes are committed here are placed on a bronze plaque in the Memory Garden.

The Memory Garden will be maintained in perpetuity. A one time fee of $275.00 will cover the cost of the individual plaque with the remainder being placed in a fund for maintenance and purposes approved by the Memorials Committee.

Of course, other memorial gifts are gratefully accepted. For additional information, please speak with the pastor.
